'FIRST ANNOUNCEMENT'

Psychosocial oncology, still in its infancy in India , is delivered by a number of dedicated individual efforts scattered throughout the country. Previous conferences provided an opportunity for these individuals to get together and share their experiences. This hasn't happened for a number of years for various reasons. There is an urgent need to get together and discuss practically relevant current issues and plan future development. With this background, we are pleased to announce the upcoming event "Seminars in Psychosocial Oncology" to be held in Calicut, Kerala.

The seminar is expected to discuss general issues like developing a culturally sensitive and relevant psychosocial oncology service and training needs in India. More specifically, there will be workshops on psychosocial assessments, interventions and current research in this area.

Participating faculty include Dr Santhosh Chaturvedi (Prof. of Psychiatry, NIMHANS, Bangalore), Dr. Manoj Kumar, (Consultant Psychiatrist, Leeds, UK), Dr. Prabha.S.Chandra, (Prof. of Psychiatry, NIMHANS, Bangalore), Dr Suresh Kumar .PN, (Director, Institute of Mental Health and Neurosciences, Calicut), Dr. Seema Mehrothra, (Associate Professor of Clinical Psychology NIMHANS, Bangalore), and others.
